The background of the image is a detailed marble pattern, specifically Golden Calacatta. It features a light cream or off-white base color, overlaid with intricate, flowing veins in shades of beige, tan, and light brown. The veins vary in thickness and direction, creating a natural, organic look. The overall texture is smooth and polished.

The image displays a close-up view of a ceramic tile with a marbled pattern. The pattern consists of irregular, flowing veins of light beige and cream colors against a slightly darker, off-white background. The overall effect is reminiscent of natural stone like marble or alabaster. The tile is framed by a thin black border.

The image features a dark, charcoal-colored background with intricate, golden-brown and light beige veins. These veins are irregular and flow across the frame in various directions, creating a complex, organic pattern characteristic of natural stone or high-quality ceramic. The overall effect is one of depth and texture.

The image displays a dark, possibly black, ceramic surface with a complex, organic pattern of fine, intersecting lines. These lines vary in color, including white, light gold, and a darker, more textured brown. The lines are irregular and appear to be embedded in or drawn across the surface, creating a rich, layered visual effect. A semi-transparent white horizontal band is positioned across the middle of the image, containing the text 'KERAMIK SAHARA NOIR' in a clean, black, sans-serif font.
